

CALL FOR RESEARCH PRESENTATIONS ON ENVIRONMENTAL JUSTICE

NC ENVIRONMENTAL JUSTICE SUMMIT OCTOBER 20-21, 2017

Sponsored by the North Carolina Environmental Justice Network - <http://www.ncejn.org/>

North Carolina's 19th Annual Community-Based Environmental Justice Summit will be held October 20-21, 2017 at the Historic Franklinton Center at Bricks, Edgecombe County, NC. Community members, government officials, environmentalists, students and researchers will participate. The Summit seeks to raise public awareness about environmental justice; connect communities in need with technical resources; support and encourage community-driven research; help communities and policy makers address problems of environmental injustice; and bring about positive changes in public health and the environment by promoting social and environmental justice.

This announcement is a call for research presentations on environmental justice. We invite submissions that address environmental justice topics from any disciplinary perspective, including environmental sciences, social sciences, humanities, law, journalism, public health and medicine. Furthermore, we encourage submissions related to popular mobilization, statutes, and laws that can be used to advance environmental justice. Although most Summit participants are from NC, we welcome any submissions that have relevance to environmental injustice. Researchers who have conducted community-driven or community-based research are encouraged to present in collaboration with members of community groups. Research presentations (approximately 12 minutes in length) will be given at a plenary session on Friday afternoon, October 20.

Please submit a title, author(s) and abstract (250 words or less) of your research by Friday, September 2, 2016 to:

Danielle Spurlock
Department of City and Regional Planning, CB#3140
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, NC 27599-3140
919-962-4757
<mailto:dspurlock@unc.edu>

Abstracts may be submitted by mail or e-mail using the submission form. E-mail submissions should have a subject line indicating "EJ Summit Abstract". Abstracts will be reviewed by the Environmental Justice Summit Coordinating Committee. Notification of acceptance for presentation will be sent by Tuesday, September 12, 2017.

Authors will be expected to submit a final version of the abstract in early October for inclusion in EJ Summit program.

As a coalition of community-based organizations, the NC EJ Network is not able to provide travel funds to academics, researchers, and government officials. Community scholarships will be available by application. Please forward this announcement as appropriate.